BIG COLLEGIATE SERIESASSURED

Princeton's Candidates for Team Receive Announcement with Cheers.

Princeton, N. J., March 5.—Baseball players here received with cheers the amountement that a series of games with Harvard and Yale are assured. The placing of these games on the schedule will attach an interest and unportance to the season that probably importance to the season that probably would otherwise have been lacking with all the undergraduates engaged very actively in military training. It is probable that the Tigers will arrange one game a week to be played on Saturday, when all students will be free from war training classes. The majority of Princeton's games will be universities and colleges in the hear vicinity of Princeton, such as Rutgers, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Manhattan and other institutions about New York or Philadelphia. The possibility of the team making its usual Southern trip seems rather re-

About thirty-five battery candidate About thirty-five battery candidates are reporting daily to Coach Fred Dawson in the symnasium. Most of these are freshmen. Ernest Savage, who probably will bear the brunt of the work on the mound for the Tisers, and John Taylor, who it is hoped will develop into a capable second pitcher, are playing with the basket-ball team. The squad will probably move to the baseball cage before the end of the coming week. Mr. Dawson will call out all candidates within the next few days.

Thus far the Princeton coaches have

Thus far the Princeton coaches have experienced considerable difficulty in conducting practices because of the military work, The Princeton R. O. T. C. Regiment is now divided into wo battalions, each battalion drilling on two different afternoons. It has therefore, been impossible to hold very extensive practices with all candida (so on hand at the same time more than
